KITCHEN SAFETY SIGNS

Safety Measures for Restaurant Kitchens, Take Away & Food Sale Shops

Keep your staff aware of the standards of personal hygiene required in the kitchen when preparing or serving food. Keep your staff up to date with the latest legislation changes. A report from the Food Standards Agency, reports that many caterers do not wash their hands correctly or for long enough. Do your staff know how to wash their hands properly, for how long and when to wash their hands. A notice in the correct place can help reduce cross-contamination within the food industry and reduce food-related illnesses. Help inform your catering staff when to wear hairnets or food service gloves, which tap is for safe drinking water.

Our range of kitchen safety signs, personal hygiene signs and safety guidance posters ensure that anyone working within the kitchen is aware of the mandatory procedures that should be in place and required to be adhered to.

Catering Safety Signs Guidance; Where to place them & Why!

This Catering Safety Signs section offers a comprehensive range of health and safety signs, food preparation storage labels and associated products for commercial kitchens in the catering and hospitality industry.

Signs and Labels play an important roll in the kitchen, helping staff conform to food safety and kitchen hygiene. Signs also reduce the risk of accidents and injuries by making staff more aware of potential hazards, they also provide a reminder to kitchen staff helping to prevent the risk of cross contamination when preparing raw or cooked food.

All signs and food labels in this section have been designed from information provided by the following government bodies...

Environmentally friendly printing and materials

All our self-adhesive catering stickers are printed on a PVC-Free self-adhesive vinyl using a water-based latex ink which is fused to the material making the print waterproof and robust against scratches. The vinyl stickers can be recycled at the end of their use.

This notice should be placed near to machines, such as large bowl mixers and food processors. The Notice reminds staff that they are dangerous to clean and should only be used by staff with appropriate training.

Persons under 18 years should never be allowed to clean these machines even if they are trained in their use.

Colour coding chopping board sign to illustrate the different boards for different types of food to remind users of their specific purpose.

This is to reduce the risk of cross contamination e.g. between raw and cooked foods.

Place this sign outside of the kitchen to remind staff to wash their hands on entering the kitchen.

Clean protective over clothing should also be worn. Catering staff must always wear Chef's style protective over clothing and never uniforms worn in base rooms.

This is an alternative notice for refrigerators that identifies the correct operating temperatures and steps to take to avoid risks of cross contamination.

It is the preferred style of notice.

This is an alternative notice for freezers that identifies the correct operating temperatures and steps to take to avoid risks of cross contamination.

It is the preferred style of notice.

This sign to be used to identify a work surface preparation area used just for preparation of raw foods, such as raw meats. This is to comply with official guidance on E. coli to reduce the risk of cross contamination.

This sign should be placed adjacent to the sink that is exclusively for washing foods. To remind staff not to use it for other purposes to prevent a risk of cross contamination.

This sign is to be used to identify a work surface preparation area used just for foods that have been cooked. This is to comply with official guidance on E. coli to reduce the risk of cross contamination.

The sign should be placed adjacent to wash hand sinks in the kitchen and milk kitchens to remind staff that they should not be used for washing anything but hands. It is illegal for them to be used for other purposes.

This sign should be placed adjacent to a sink that is used for washing food equipment, pot, utensils etc. To remind kitchen staff not to use for foods or hand washing.

This serves as a reminder to separate cooked and raw food. It can be placed on fridges & freezers. There is a risk of cross contamination from raw meats, vegetables and other similar raw foods. One of the main failings found in audits relates to food being incorrectly stored together in fridges and freezers.

* Signs help new and part time kitchen staff to conform to the standards required by law in a busy commercial kitchen *

 There is a legal obligation to provide information and training on health and safety to all employees, even part time staff **

PROMOTE YOUR BRAND

Be the first point of call for chefs & catering staff!

Do you sell chopping boards and chef knives?

These branded Chopping Board and Safe Use of Knives catering safety notices are perfect to give to your customer as a free gift with each purchase of a chopping board or chef's knife, whilst providing your details as a go to company for all their hospitality and catering needs.

These catering safety notices are a helpful training tool for current, new and part time staff to help prevent cross contamination and accidents in the workplace.

Sold in packs of 50 or 100, we also have dispensers available to help keep them neat and tidy, which can be displayed on a counter top and are ideal for showrooms, cash and carries and for customers to pick up their free notice when purchasing a chopping board or chef's knife.

When placing an order please provide your logo in an .EPS, PDF or JPEG format along with the contact details you would like to have on these notices. A proof of design will be sent for approval.

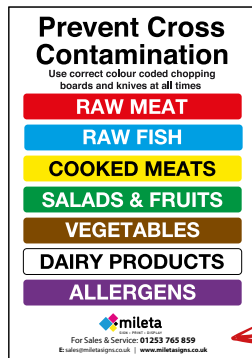

- Minimum 3 to 5 years on-site advertising with these notices.
- Promotes return business - Be the first point of call.
- Improves customer awareness of your company and services.

Food Preparation & Storage Labels

A food labelling system is a must for any catering establishment preparing, cooking and storing pre-cooked or raw foods. This simple to use system is commonly used within the hospitality and catering industry. These labels are also known as, "Day of the Week Labels", "Day dots" or "Shelf Life Labels".

Food safety storage labels help prevent food being consumed or used after its use-by date. A "first in-first out" system, which also helps to control your food waste. With allergic reactions to food on the increase, chefs and cooks preparing dishes need to label the dish with an "Allergen Information Label" indicating which of the 14 allergens are in the food.

25mm Day of the Week Colour Coded Labels

Keep your food waste to a minimum and maximise profits with this simple colour-coded food rotation system. Fill in the date on the empty section of the label to ensure accurate rotation. All our food labels comply with FDA regulations and are easy to remove, leaving no sticky residue on the surface of the container, so that your containers can be reused again and again.

The Importance of Good Hand Hygiene

Millions of germs are picked up in every-day activities. Hand hygiene is essential to prevent the transfer of germs to other people and surfaces. Poor hand hygiene can lead to the spread of Coronavirus, Campylobacter, Salmonella, MRSA, Impetigo and Flu. Displaying a Now Wash Your Hands Sign around your business reminds everyone to follow good hand hygiene.

How To Wash Your Hands

When To Wash Your Hands

Wash your hands before you:
 Prepare or eat food.
 Touch a raw animal product.
 Use a handkerchief, tissue, or paper napkin.
 Use the toilet.
 Blow your nose, cough, or sneeze.
 Touch a waste or soiled object.
 Change a nappy.

Wash your hands after you:
 Use the toilet.
 Blow your nose, cough, or sneeze.
 Touch a waste or soiled object.
 Change a nappy.

Hands should be washed as frequently as necessary throughout the day, but ALWAYS:
BEFORE:
 • Starting work
 • Touching raw meat and high risk foods.
BETWEEN:
 • Handling raw and cooked meats / foods.
AFTER:
 • Handling raw meat / food
 • Handling raw eggs in their shell
 • Handling or touching into your hands
 • Touching your hair or face, nose, skin etc.
 • Carrying out cleaning jobs or touching containers of cleaning chemicals
 • Dealing with rubbish / waste and bins
 • Eating, drinking and smoking in areas set aside for these activities

Prevent Cross Contamination Wash your hands!

WASH HANDS GUIDELINES

Hand washing is a crucial factor in preventing food poisoning. For effective hand washing you must observe the following:

1. You must use a wash hand basin exclusively for this purpose.
2. You must use comfortable hot water and soap, anti-bacterial liquid soap is preferable.
3. Rinse hands properly before drying them.
4. Dry your hands properly by using an hygienic means i.e. disposable paper towels, clean roller towels.

Never dry your hands on a tea towel, service cloth or protective clothing as this poses a potential risk for cross-contamination.

Hands should be washed as frequently as necessary throughout the day, but ALWAYS:

BEFORE:

- Starting work
- Touching raw meat and high risk foods.

BETWEEN:

- Handling raw and cooked meats / foods.

AFTER:

- Handling raw meat / food

THE SAFE USE OF KNIVES

Always select the right knife for the task.

Knives should be kept sharp and have handles that can be properly held.

When using a knife, use a firm grip, use even pressure for cutting, cut downwards and avoid cutting towards the body.

Never try to catch a falling knife.

Knives should not be left lying around on worktops and tables. They should not be placed unprotected in cupboards or drawers, nor left in washing up. They should always be stored in suitable sheaths or racks.

Cutting blocks, tables and boards should be firm, smooth and clean.

There should always be enough room so that a person using a knife is not in danger of being bumped by another person.

When carrying a knife always hold the point of the knife downwards

Food Storage FIFO... First In - First Out

FIFO stands for First In, First Out and using a FIFO system is the only way to manage your food storage in the kitchen. The term First In, First Out is a handy way to remember that the food that has been bought in first needs to be consumed first. This is so that everything is used when it is at maximum freshness and there are no nasty surprises from using out of date food that may have gone off. As well as keeping everyone safe, FIFO also avoids food wastage.

These signs in this section help your staff ensure the correct temperatures are maintained when storing, reheating and cooking food. Help prevent food waste and reduce the risk of food contamination.

CATERING EQUIPMENT OVENS & RANGES

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

Being burned, by either touching a hot surface, or by being in the way of hot air when oven door is opened. Ovens with bottom hinged doors can tilt forward if heavy joints are placed on the open door. There is a danger of a gas flashback if a gas oven does not light successfully, or when gas which has built up in the oven because of flame failure is ignited.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Always use a dry oven cloth or oven gloves when handling anything in an oven or on a range.
2. Always stand to one side when opening an oven door and open the door slowly.
3. Make sure the taper is lit before you turn on the gas supply and make sure all gas burners light and remain alight.
4. If the fan interlock, if fitted, does not switch off the fan when you open the door report it to your supervisor.
5. Never use a forced convection oven if the fan guard is not in place.
6. Do not rest anything heavy, for example a large meat joint while basting, on bottom hinged doors.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Oven cleaning fluids and pads may contain caustic chemicals which can cause severe burns. Suitable gloves and eye protection should therefore be worn when they are used.

CATERING EQUIPMENT STEAMING OVENS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The hazards associated with steaming ovens are avoided, particularly when opening the door, and burns from touching the hot outer casing.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Before using the oven, check that the electric heating elements are completely covered with water or that the pump is fitted in the correct level.
2. Make sure the hot foot regulating the water level operates freely.
3. Do not use the steamer if the steam vent is obstructed or closed.
4. Open the door for a few minutes to let the access steam escape.
5. Report any steam leakage around the door seal to your supervisor.
6. Keep the drip tray in position.

CLEANING

Steamer should be turned off and isolated if electric, and allowed to cool. The outer casing should be shut off and the pump drained. Clean using a damp cloth and warm water. The interior should be washed down, rinsed, dried and re-assembled. Any seals should be removed with a proprietary bar or tool. The door should be left open to prevent moisture smells forming.

CATERING EQUIPMENT Grillers - Griddleles - Salamanders

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard associated with this equipment is burns from the heat of the grill or the heat of the burner or from a gas flashback. There is also a danger of the burner plate or grill unit being pulled out, falling and burning fingers or toes.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Wall mounted units should not be positioned over a range top.
2. Always use oven gloves or an oven cloth to handle cooking trays. Use tongs to handle hot food.
3. Grinding equipment is other at eye level. Take special care not to burn your face and eyes.
4. There should be a minimum distance of 100cm between the top of a grill and any overhanging shelf or ceiling.
5. Follow the manufacturer's recommended lighting procedure for gas-burned griddles. If the automatic lighting, when fitted, fails, a lighter plate should be used to light the burners.
6. Gas burner jets require regular maintenance to prevent blockage by food debris or carbon from whatever source. The burner jets should be removed and cleaned by a gas service engineer. Qualified cleaning can open up the gas jets and disturb the designed combustion rate.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Grillers should be turned off and, if electric, isolated, and the grill left to cool before being touched. Cleaning fluids and pads may contain caustic chemicals which can cause severe burns. Suitable gloves and eye protection should therefore be worn when they are used.

CATERING EQUIPMENT DEEP FAT FRYERS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

Burns can be caused if the hot oil or fat splashes when the food basket is dropped in carelessly, or if it falls or bobs over if there is excess water or moisture in the oil. Fire from spillage of hot cooking oil or fat is a major hazard. Spilled or splashed oil or fat on the floor around the fryer is a major slipping hazard.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Do not tilt and lift.
2. Do not overfill. Check oil level mark.
3. Do not fill fryer with more oil than is used.
4. Check that food is dry before immersing in hot oil. Brush or scrub to remove moisture.
5. Do not overheat the basket.
6. Do not let the basket drop into hot oil.
7. Clean up spills or drips from the floor immediately.
8. Always return thermostat control to zero when frying is completed.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Fryer should be turned off and, if electric, isolated, and the oil left to cool before being touched. Cleaning fluids and pads may contain caustic chemicals which can cause severe burns. Suitable gloves and eye protection should therefore be worn when they are used.

CATERING EQUIPMENT MICROWAVE OVENS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

Burns and scalds caused when sealed containers containing hot liquid burst open. Hot food containers and steam also cause burns. Microwave ovens can catch fire if they are not used properly or if they contain volatile substances. Microwave energy could burn the user if the door seals are faulty or the protective mesh behind the glass door panel slips.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Do not put metal-decorated or metal dishes in the microwave, unless the manufacturer's user handbook says this is safe.
2. Do not cook eggs in their shells in the microwave.
3. Always place cling film covering food or dishes before cooking. (When removing the top up of the top of the wrap). Always use the lid with the handle has stopped rotating.
4. Always use the pusher provided.
5. Never attempt to withdraw processed food from the chute while the machine is switched on.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before you start to clean the machine, unplug it, or switch it off at the isolator.

CATERING EQUIPMENT FOOD PROCESSORS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazards on these machines are the cutter blades and mixing blades that rotate at high speeds, these can cause severe injury to the fingers. Also hot ingredients may be ejected from the bowl and cause scalding.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Only trained operators should use these machines.
2. Always switch off the machine before attempting to remove the lid.
3. Never sharpen a sharp blade.
4. Always use the pusher provided.
5. Never attempt to withdraw processed food from the chute while the machine is switched on.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before you start to clean the machine, unplug it, or switch it off at the isolator.

CATERING EQUIPMENT SLICERS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard with these machines is the exposed cutting edge of the blades, which can cause serious cuts and even amputation.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Do not operate machine unless working with very hot water.
2. Do not touch the blades unless all safety guards are in place.
3. Never touch the blade with your hand.
4. Use the pusher or your hand.
5. Never sharpen a sharp blade.
6. Always use the pusher provided.
7. Keep the blade sharp. The operator has to use more force with blunt blades which increases the risk of slipping onto it.

CLEANING & SHARPENING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning and sharpening procedures. Always unplug machine before cleaning or removing safety guards. Always clean and sterilise machine after sharpening, or when machine has blades to be removed for cleaning. A blade cover that prevents access to the sharp edge should be used to store the blades when not in use.

CATERING EQUIPMENT DISHWASHING MACHINE

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

Using a part of dishwasher can create a number of hazards. Most types can spray hot water which will scald. In some machines the water heating elements inside the dishwasher are visible through a transparent door panel and can burn. There are also hazards of slipping when the door is open.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Always wear rubber gloves when working with very hot water.
2. Make sure all guards provided are in position before you start.
3. Never put your hands in the dishwasher while it is running.
4. Never try to adjust or repair any part of the dishwasher unless you have been trained to do so.
5. Do not touch the water heating elements inside the dishwasher.
6. Concentrated detergent can burn the skin and eyes. Always wear protective clothing provided when adding, filling or cleaning up spilled detergent.
7. The side panels near the front may be very hot.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before a dishwasher is cleaned it should be turned off and isolated from the electrical supply. Under no circumstances should a conveyor dishwasher be cleaned while it is in operation.

CATERING EQUIPMENT HEATED RINSING SINKS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard associated with heated rinsing sinks is scalding by very hot water. Spills of hot water splashing on the face can cause severe burns. Deep cuts can be caused by broken crockery. The hot water may also splash on the user and slipper.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Suitable gloves, aprons and boots should always be worn when working on a heated sink. The gloves should protect the fingers.
2. Long handled baskets should be used to immerse crockery at centre into the water.
3. Never fill the sink above the maximum water level mark. This reduces the risk of scalding water splashing and overflowing the sink and possibly causing slip and fall accidents.
4. Always immerse baskets slowly into the water.
5. Make sure water does not get into the electrical equipment.
6. The thermostat switch should be clearly marked to show if an adjustment is either increasing or decreasing the water temperature. Only trained staff should adjust the thermostat.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before cleaning, turn off the gas tap or steam valve or, if electric, isolated. Only trained staff should adjust the equipment following manufacturer's guidelines. Staff should never remove safety fittings on pressure boilers.

CATERING EQUIPMENT BAINS - MARIE HOT SERVING COUNTERS & CUPBOARDS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard associated with this type of equipment are burns and scalds.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Before the unit is used check that the heating water is up to the correct operating level in the trough and the drain tap is tightly closed.
2. Use an oven cloth or wear gloves when handling hot food from the trough.
3. Hot containers over or through to be hot water or steam drip off.
4. Do not leave serving utensils projecting over the edge of the food counters.
5. Never fill the hot liquid when serving a customer.
6. When water has cooked, drain the heating water into suitable containers and carry them carefully.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before cleaning, the unit should be turned off and the water allowed to cool. Electrically heated equipment should be isolated from the supply.

CATERING EQUIPMENT WATER BOILERS & CAFE SETS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard associated with this type of equipment are burns and scalds.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Make sure the cold water supply is fully on before you light or switch on the equipment.
2. Where there is a fused water tank, the water in it should be at the correct level.
3. Do not alter the heating control settings on automatic units.
4. Keep pressure gauge and safety device clean. A pressure boiler and the safety devices should be inspected at least once every three months.
5. Keep the drip tray in position.
6. Keep the receiving vessel up to the top to stop spilling.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Before cleaning, turn off the gas tap or steam valve or, if electric, isolated. Only trained staff should adjust the equipment following manufacturer's guidelines. Staff should never remove safety fittings on pressure boilers.

CATERING EQUIPMENT WASTE DISPOSAL UNITS

POTENTIAL HAZARDS

The main hazard from waste disposers is the possibility of severe injury should a hand or hand held implement or part get into the feed hopper and come into contact with the cutter while the machine is running.

PRECAUTIONS TO TAKE

1. Turn on the water supply before you switch on the unit, to ensure effective flushing.
2. Suitable materials such as paper, metal, plastic and wood should not be put in the feed hopper.
3. If the unit does get blocked it should be switched off and the unit isolated from the electrical supply before any attempt is made to free the blockage.
4. Under no circumstances should you put your hands or any hand held implement into the hopper while the unit is switched on, even if it has stopped rotating.
5. Guards or restrictor plates which prevent fingers reaching the cutter should always be in position before the machine is used.

CLEANING

Follow manufacturers instructions on all cleaning procedures. Unit should be turned off and, isolated. Only trained staff should clean the machine. Cleaning fluids and pads may contain caustic chemicals which can cause severe burns. Suitable gloves and eye protection should therefore be worn when they are used.

Tamper-Evident Safe Seal Take Away Food Delivery Labels

On-demand food delivery is a growing business and more and more customers are now ordering food online for delivery instead of eating out because of its convenience. Food products are always a prime target for tampering, with some deliverers openly confessing to not being able to resist taking out food from an order. Don't take chances when it comes to your customer orders and satisfaction.

Tamper-evident labels help ensure the safety of unopened food packaging and containers during delivery and can provide visible evidence on whether a deliverer has opened the packaging before reaching the customer. Our labels aim to prevent third parties from compromising the product's integrity and alert the customer to any signs of tampering on delivery.

Collect Customer Reviews

These premium metal signs are a great way to interact with your customers or guests, letting them know their opinion matters and encouraging them to leave a review of your business. The fact of the matter is, your company's best marketers and sales reps aren't your employees – they're your existing customers. UK consumers are increasingly turning to online reviews when it comes to booking hotels and restaurants. A survey by American Express found that more than 80% of UK consumers are now researching online before booking a hotel and 62% before booking a restaurant.

Viewing Distance Guide

Use this guide to judge the size of sign you will need.
Avoid purchasing a sign that is too big or too small.

Fire Escape Signs The British Standard BS 5499-4 Code of Practice for escape route signs

1. Fire Exit and Exit signs should be, so far as reasonably practicable, evenly spread and consistently located at the same height so that the evacuee can quickly and effectively predict the location of the next sign within the escape route.
2. Signs should not be fixed to doors or sited where they may be obscured by open doors.
3. Signs sited on walls should be mounted between 1.7m and 2.0m from floor level measured from the base of the sign.

Fire Actions Notices

Fire Action Notices are compulsory signs that MUST be displayed throughout your premises to help make sure the correct steps are taken should a fire be discovered. They provide crucial instructions for staff, guests and visitors during a fire emergency, ensuring everyone knows the essential actions to take; from raising alarms, to your fire assembly point locations. It is advised to place these signs next to every manual call point in your premises, allowing for swift and organised responses to potential fires and minimising confusion in high-stress situations.

Evacuation For Disabled People

All staff should be aware of the specific needs of a disabled person. The needs differ from person to person

Wheelchair Users

Assist Wheelchair users along specific escape routes towards the identified refuge point

Do not use lifts
Do not attempt to lift the wheelchair or occupant unless trained to do so

People with impaired vision

Look for people who may be identified as having impaired vision by wearing this sign.

Look out for people who may be disorientated. Tell them your name and speak clearly giving instructions. Offer your arm to lead them through the evacuation route identified by the running man. Provide continual commentary as to where you are going

Do not point - gestures will go unnoticed

People with impaired Hearing

These people may not have heard the alarm. Attract their attention in some other way. Ensure that they follow the evacuation route identified by the escape route signs.

You will need to be sensitive to the following other group of people who may need special attention

Arthritis - Epileptics - Young Children - Expectant Mothers

Smoking Control Signs

All smoke free premises and vehicles need to display No Smoking signs that meet the requirements of the law. No Smoking signs make it clear which premises and vehicles are smoke free and demonstrate that you are taking the necessary steps to meet the requirements of the Smoke Free Law, which came into force in July 2007.

E-Cigarette Control Signs

You are required by law in England and Northern Ireland to display a no smoking sign in a prominent position at or near each entrance to your smoke-free premises. The Government has no policy on E-cigarette smoking or Vaping in the UK. Our range of signs lets you choose whether you allow / disallow the smoking of e-cigarettes or vaping on your premises.

Hospitality Smoking Control Signs

Smokers congregating outside the entrance of your establishment creates a noisy, unsightly and unhealthy impression, as well as creating clouds of smoke, second-hand fumes and an obstruction to potential customers. The following signs inform the public where they can and cannot smoke and help to create a welcoming clean-air zone, which is attractive to customers, guests or residents. These notices are printed on brushed gold or brushed silver aluminium and come complete with an attractive black metal frame or free-standing display, creating an up-market image in your public areas.

All notices come supplied with either a stylish black metal frame or an elegant freestanding display.

CCTV & Security Warning Notices

Improve the security and safety of premises, properties and members of the public.

Wherever possible, you should make sure that staff members, visitors, contractors and other individuals are informed about the use of CCTV surveillance. The use of appropriate signage within your premises helps get that message across perfectly, be it a clear warning sign of CCTV in operation or a sign advising that any person caught stealing or causing damage will be prosecuted as part of your on-site security measures.

Health & Safety Law Poster UK

You have a legal requirement to display this statutory notice. Under the Health and Safety information for Employees Regulations (HSIER), all employers [even if they only employ 1 other person] are required to display the poster in a prominent location on all business premises.

In 2009, the HSE introduced an updated, simpler version of the Health & Safety Law Poster. If you are still displaying an old version, you must replace it. Check all the posters you have displayed in your workplace, do they look like the poster opposite? If the answer is 'no' then your posters will need changing to the current version.

Accident Book - GDPR Compliant

The A4 Accident Book is a must have for any workplace or school to record accidents and injuries befalling employees, students or visitors. This accident book meets the legal requirements set by the Social Security Administration act 1992 and the Data Protection Act 2018 (GDPR). All accidents in the workplace or at school must be recorded in the accident book. The clear layout makes it easy to record information relevant to incidents and the perforated pages are easily removed. The book has space for up to 53 entries.

Bar/Kiosk First Aid Kits

Our Bar/Kiosk catering first aid kit gives smaller food service and catering workplaces the first aid supplies required to guarantee appropriate first aid can be administered when needed. The kit includes a multitude of items that are ideal for workplaces that involve preparing food, such as blue plasters, fingerstalls, gloves, strappings and burns gel sachets. Blue items are recommended for catering environments because it is not a colour naturally found in food ingredients, meaning it is easily spotted if cross-contamination was to occur. These high quality food service first aid items are stored in a premium hard plastic case.

Recycling & Waste Disposal Notices

Recycling Bin Labels

Great for applying to your recycling and waste containers to make it clear for your team where to put their waste/recycling. Clear signage can encourage better recycling rates, and discourage people putting waste in the wrong stream, causing contamination. Designed in the WRAP colours and symbols – The Wrap icons were designed to support the National Recycle Now campaign branding and provide a consistent look and feel across recycling communications all over the UK.

Wayfinding Signs for Firefighters

In response to the Grenfell Tower tragedy, from 23rd January 2023 an update to the Fire Safety Regulations 2022, means it is compulsory for all residential buildings above three storeys, to display Wayfinding Signs to assist firefighters in the event of an emergency. Signs to be displayed in stairways, to assist firefighters with floor and flat identification on each level in the event of a fire emergency.

To make sure you are fully compliant with the new Wayfinding legislation you must, at minimum, display:

- Floor designation signs
- Flat designation signs (with directional arrows if required)

To make sure you have the right sign you need for your building, all of the below signs are available to add your own numbers/letters.

To be compliant, floor identification signs must have a minimum letter height of 50mm for text and 75mm for numerals (Appx. 15.14.b) and flat identification signs must have a minimum letter height of 25mm for text and 37.5mm for numerals (Appx. 15.16.c)

Flats 5-10	Material options: [S/A]: Glow in the dark, photoluminescent Self adhesive vinyl sticker [P/L]: Glow in the dark 1.2mm Rigid photoluminescent sign. Our glow in the dark material allow the sign to be legible in low light conditions and charges by natural and artificial light. Sign appears white in the day light, but shines brightly in the dark

Floor Graphics & Safety Stands

Custom Made Floor Graphics

Grab the attention of your audience with enticing printed graphics and turn any floor surface into an advertising space with our custom made vinyl floor graphics. Our printed floor vinyl has a textured non-slip finish to help make sure you're compliant with UK flooring health and safety regulations. All of our graphics are printed with premium eco-solvent inks and can be fitted internally to any space, no matter the size or shape.

Internal floor graphics are widely used in commercial and public environments such as retail stores, airports, museums, and hospitals. They serve various purposes, including:

- Directing people to specific areas, exits, or facilities, such as restrooms, check-in counters, or food courts.
- Advertising products, services, or special events, strategically placed near point of sale or in high-traffic areas.
- Reinforcing a brand's identity and leaving a lasting impression on customers with logos, slogans, or other brand elements.
- Warning people about potential hazards or safety precautions, such as wet floors, slippery surfaces, or low clearance areas.

Overall, internal floor graphics offer a creative and engaging way to communicate with people, capturing attention and conveying information in a visually appealing and functional manner.

We have options for both indoor and outdoor surfaces. Our Interior Floor Stickers have an R10 slip rating for a safe surface. Our Exterior Floor Stickers only work on plastered or plain concrete surface not on raw or rough Concrete Surface.

Builders' Boards & Site Safety Signs

Builders' Boards

Site boards, often known as builders' boards, are essential items for all builders, contractors, and tradesmen, such as; Builders, Joiners, Plasterers, Electricians, Plumbers, Gardeners, Roofers, Groundworks, Decorators, and more! They are the perfect solution to advertise your business, position around the site, driveway, or even use as a pavement sign. Our site boards are printed on either 6mm thick correx or 3mm thick Alupanel (DiBond) and, at 900 x 600mm in size, they are large enough for people to see from a distance. Our builders' boards are sturdy and lightweight for easy transportation and come with a protective laminate that can easily be wiped down of debris, creating the perfect Builders Advertising Board.

Site Safety Signs

Our diverse collection of construction site safety signs, from warning to hazard to mandatory signs, is methodically crafted to meet every builder's requirement. With a focus on durability and clarity, each sign is made from premium materials, ensuring resilience against challenging weather and guaranteeing optimal visibility. Workplace safety signs are required by law to alert staff and visitors about potential risks or hazards at construction work sites. These signs enhance health & safety through prominent logos and straightforward messages. They provide clear instructions about necessary safety measures using easily comprehensible construction symbols. Available in various sizes and material options.
